

Faith of Existence

Somewhere out there
She gazes upon the stars you wish upon Shower under the same sun you praise

And awaits you
Patiently
As her white knight in shining armor

As a beautiful princess not trapped in a dungeon of a beastly dragon nor the top of the orthanc tower but in a crowd of faces that you hardly recognize faith drives you, though you ask who art thou to command my heart so would I leave to surrender my faith, my heart if love be true

I'd see the face of god when I see your face
